Update to Technical Bulletin (TB-2401): Flame Detectors

Reason for notification:

Update to TB-2401 regarding estimated dates for resumption of supply for flame detectors.

Detail:

As previously advised, following a component obsolescence, our supplier has identified and is migrating to the alternative IR sensor component requiring re-approval. Unfortunately, there has been a delay in the approval schedule resulting in standard products and base mounts having different availability.

Please refer to the tables below for individual product items, and estimated supply resumption dates.
